SATURDAY LVENING, AUGUST 16.

A Great Carnival of Corn Sioux City is making preparations for a magnificent corn-palace feetival. There seems to be a growing interest throughout the West in these annual exhibitions, showing as they do the wonderful resources of the country. The corr-palace idea has become a potent factor in inviting attention to advantages offered to the home seeker and the investor. Sioux City has had corn palaces before, and when the proposition was made to erect another this year there were those who thought that the novelty of the thing had become exhausted. It was leared that a fourth year would offer no attractions, and fail to get the necessary crowds because there were so few people left who had not seen it. That was on the theory that all corn palaces are alike. But the timid ones were promptly overridden and the determination was reached to perpetuate the festival and this year to have a palace the val and this year to have a palace that should be the wondering admiration of all beholders. The date for the opening is Sept. 25, and the festival will continue until Oct 11. The palace will cover an area of 264 square feet, which is twice as large as that of lest year.

The structure is of Arabic design, and re sembles in general outline pictures of some of the famous Turkish morques. The centre of the building closes in so tumense dome, from which rises a substantial tower that will cleave the air at a height of 170 feet. On each side of this central tower will be two smaller ones located on the turrets, and heavy festions of grain will be hung from the smaller ones to the central tower.

The interior, in arrangement and decoration, will be artistic and besutifut, and if tion, will be artistic and testimit, and it the plans of the arrangement are carried out, every one will be asking, "Where is to be the end to corn-palace decorations?"

Among other features of the occa-ion promised is a pageant. Mr. Franco's Dubols, the French designer, who is already at bols, the French designer, who is already at work on New Orleans' next year's mardingras, will equip and superintend the Sioux City show, and promises the most unique and dazzling pageant ever teen outside of New Orleans. The ideas of the management, both for the parade and the palace, are on a grand scale, and the visitor may expect to be greeted with novelty, impressing expects only recepts. sive spectacular. scenes, surprising effects and original ideas, all worked out in corn.
